Hi Robert and Cody,

As we discussed today, I've reviewed the Notice, and, with the changes you made in person to your paperwork, I consider the Notice to be complete.

Before we can issue a small mine permit, we need to receive SHPO concurrence with our required consideration of cultural resources. Upon review of the findings associated with your planned cultural resources survey, we will make our determination and request SHPO concurrence.

The reclamation surety required for your planned operation is either $28,000 (3-year bond re-evaluation period) or $28,600 (5-year bond re-evaluation period). Contact Penny Berry (801-538-5291) if you have questions about surety types. Once we receive the appropriate surety, we can conditionally authorize you to commence operations within the existing disturbance, with approval of the entire planned project upon receipt of SHPO concurrence. ☺

Keep me posted. Thanks.

Peter
